

Shellie Holden BA (Hons), PGCE, MA (Textiles) , HEA

Shellie is an accomplished artist – maker who is involved in consultation, commission, curatorial and other creative practices including lecturing and research.

Her practice lies on the peripheries between drawing, making and textiles, including stitched, constructed, collaged and cut paper textiles, wall ensembles, altered books and ‘incidentals’-things that have been altered with a hand finished intervention.

Recent projects/publicity

Currently curating and exhibiting in ‘Branching Out - Concepts for a domestic space’, pop up project space.

Featured on Kevin McClouds Man Made Home 2013, broadcast by Optomen Television for Channel four, Shellie was able to extend her interest and experience in relation to the hand made, sustainable and ethical textile practice and making.

She coordinated, co-curated and exhibited in Everyone Everything, a group exhibition of work by lecturers and associates at Swansea Metropolitan, University of Wales, Trinity St David.
